
All Source Intelligence Analyst Resume

Job Objective

Seeking the position of All Source Intelligence Analyst in an esteemed organization.

Highlights of Qualifications:

- Ability to perform All-Source analysis
 - Sound knowledge of intelligence analytical products
 - Proficient in Microsoft Office – Excel, Visio, PowerPoint, Project, Word, Microsoft Access, and data manipulation
 - Possess Extensive knowledge of computer-based applications
 - Excellent ability to multi-task and accomplish tasks with limited supervision and responds to short-notice tasking
-

Professional Experience:

All-Source Intelligence Analyst, August 2005 – Present
Lockheed Martin Corporation, Dallas, TX

- Analyzed and examined All-Source data to contribute and produce draft and finished All-Source assessments.
- Responsible for identifying, developing, and integrating of counter measure technologies.
- Performed multi-layered, multi-intelligence analysis when required.
- Accompanied in preparing processes that focus on integrating all intelligence disciplines with operational planning.
- Developed and integrated enhanced Intelligence, Surveillance, and reconnaissance assets.

All-Source Intelligence Analyst, May 2000 – July 2005
BAE Systems Information Technology, Dallas, TX

- Provided intelligence support for contingency operations.
 - Efficiently arranged and participated in the analysis, processing, and distribution of strategic and tactical intelligence.
 - Manned for preparing all-source intelligence products.
 - Regularly received and processed reports and messages.
 - Analyzed the importance and reliability of incoming information.
 - Analyzed and evaluated intelligence holdings to examine changes in adversary's capabilities, vulnerabilities and probable courses of action.
-

Education:

Bachelor of Science in Information System, University of California, Berkeley, CA

Build your Resume Now