

---

Database Designer Resume

---

Job Objective

Seeking an excellent and challenging position as Database Designer.

---

Highlights of Qualifications:

---

- Huge experience in designing high performance and scalable data warehousing applications
  - Thorough understanding of relational database design and data modeling
  - Familiarity with physical schema design, stored procedures, and high volume database tuning
  - Good understanding of relational and dimensional data models
  - Proficient with OLAP reporting tools, SQL, DB2 and Oracle
-

Professional Experience:

---

Database Designer
SPARTA, Inc., Houston, TX
April 2006 – Present

- Designed atomic and publishing layer model for new projects.
- Finalized physical model to generate DDL for inclusion in version.
- Identified and made make recommendations to improve ongoing system performance.
- Managed performance expectations.
- Established and enforced best practices in relation to impacts on performance.
- Created and maintained team standards and strategy for projects.

Database Designer
iTech Solutions, Inc., Houston, TX
June 2002 – March 2006

- Documented baseline system performance metrics.
  - Promoted active workload management via filtering, throttling and resource sharing configurations.
  - Handled capacity planning of space and system resource.
  - Coordinated with cross-team meetings to discuss conflicts and resolutions.
  - Generated capacity plans.
  - Provided information on upcoming projects for capacity projections.
-

Education:

---

Bachelor's Degree in Computer Science
Prescott College, Arizona, AZ

Build your Resume Now