
Public Health Professor Resume

Job Objective

To obtain the position of Public Health Professor where I can fully use my teaching skills and help students succeed.

Highlights of Qualifications:

- Wide experience in teaching public health courses
 - Sound knowledge of teaching strategies
 - Profound knowledge of health research and publications
 - Proficient with web technologies utilized for teaching purposes
 - Strong knowledge of health disparities, health communications
 - Ability to lead and encourage student groups to achieve academic goals
 - Ability to develop public health programs
 - Ability to teach students from diverse backgrounds
 - Ability to follow approved class schedules
-

Professional Experience:

Public Health Professor
Clemson University, Northadams, MA
August 2007 – Present

- Presented lectures on public health to undergraduate and graduates.
- Developed new instructional methodologies to ensure quality learning experiences for students.
- Reviewed and revised course materials.
- Provided career advice to students.
- Stocked department materials and maintained laboratory equipment.
- Addressed teaching and research issues promptly.
- Supported health research programs.
- Involved students in laboratory works.

Public Health Professor
Mercer University, Northadams, MA
May 2004 – July 2007

- Delivered lectures on public health courses including epidemiology, nutrition and lifestyle diseases.
 - Conducted online courses and supported distance education.
 - Supervised students in research activities and thesis preparations.
 - Contributed to academic publications and journals.
 - Assisted in department outreach activities.
-

Education:

PhD in Public Health
Northwestern Oklahoma State University, Alva, OK
Master's Degree in Public Health
Keiser Career College, Greenacres, FL

Build your Resume Now