

---

Statistical Programmer Resume

---

Job Objective

To obtain a Statistical Programmer position and to contribute to the success of the company.

---

Work Experience:

Statistical Programmer, August 2005 – Present
MedFocus Pharmaceutical, Pomona, CA

- Provided statistical programming support for data analyses on pre-clinical and post marketing studies.
- Reviewed statistical analysis plans and table, figure and listing (TFL) mockups.
- Assisted statisticians to generate and review analysis dataset specifications and TFL programming specifications.
- Generated and verified SDTM and ADaM analysis datasets as needed.
- Provided input for study design and analysis of clinical data.

Statistical Programmer, May 2000 – July 2005
Regeneron, Pomona, CA

- Provided input and expertise to ensure compliance with applicable regulations.
  - Identified data quality issues and recommended and implemented solutions to resolve those issues.
  - Served as lead for provision of data and statistical information from clinical trial results.
  - Prepared SOPs pertaining to statistics and statistical programming.
  - Provided input and review to statistical analysis plans, CRFs and dataset structures.
  - Prepared statistical analysis plans, clinical study reports and summarized key results.
-

Summary of Qualifications:

- Profound knowledge of SAS programming
  - Expert in SAS/BASE, SAS/STAT and SAS/MACRO
  - Sound knowledge of SAS software, familiarity with system development processes
  - Skilled in SAS programming language, especially macro facility, data step programming and report writing
  - Exceptional ability to work independently and act with initiative to address issues
  - Outstanding ability to gather and document business requirements and architect process solutions meeting defined requirements
-

Education:

Bachelor's Degree in Statistics, Bellevue University, Nebraska, NE

---

Build your Resume Now